DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 2, 4-6, and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Omatsu.

With respect to claims 1, 2, 4 and 9, the reference discloses a piezoelectric ceramic body comprising a laminated PZT structure 1 and internal electrodes made of AgPd 2 and PZT.

With respect to claim 5, the reference discloses in line 35 of column 5 70% Ag.

With respect to claim 6, fig. 3 discloses less than 50% volume of PZT.

Claims 6 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Yasuda et al.

The reference discloses in fig. 1 a laminated piezoelectric structure and inner electrodes with silver and Fe or Ni of less than %Mol.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Omatsu.

The reference discloses a piezoelectric ceramic body comprising a laminated PZT structure 1 and internal electrodes made of AgPd 2 and PZT.

The reference does not disclose the exact composition of the PZT.

The Examiner takes Official Notice that the mechanical and electrical characteristics of different PZT compositions would have been well known. The court has found that the selection of a known material based on its suitability for its intended use is obvious. In re Leshin, 227 F.2d 197, 125 USPQ 416 (CCPA 1960). Sinclair & Carroll Co. v. Interchemical Corp., 325 U.S. 327, 65 USPQ 297 (1945). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to use the claimed composition for the purpose of utilizing the known mechanical and electrical characteristics.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claim 10 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed 6 June 2002 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

With respect to the Omatsu and Yasuda et al references, Applicant argues that the references do not disclose that "the material of the at least one internal electrode having a component which at least of one of reduces and inhibits a diffusion of silver." It is the Examiner's position that a) this a functional limitation that adds no structural limitations and b) the piezoelectric ceramic component of Omatsu and the metal of Yasuda et al inherently have this limitation. Applicant is reminded that the courts have found that claims directed to apparatus must be distinguished from the prior art in terms of structure rather than function. In re Danly, 263 F.2d 844, 847, 120 USPQ 528, 531 (CCPA 1959). "[A]pparatus claims cover what a device is, not what a device does." Hewlett-Packard Co. v. Bausch & Lomb Inc., 909 F.2d 1464, 1469, 15 USPQ2d 1525, 1528 (Fed. Cir. 1990). (emphasis in original). And the court has stated mere recognition of latent properties in the prior art does not render nonobvious an otherwise known invention. In re Wiseman, 596 F.2d 1019, 201 USPQ 658 (CCPA 1979) (Claims were directed to grooved carbon disc brakes wherein the grooves were provided to vent steam or vapor during a braking action. A prior art reference taught noncarbon disc brakes which were grooved for the purpose of cooling the faces of the braking members and eliminating dust. The court held the prior art references when combined would overcome the problems of dust and overheating solved by the prior art and would inherently overcome the steam or vapor cause of the problem relied upon for patentability by applicants. Granting a patent on the discovery of an unknown but inherent function (here venting steam or vapor) "would re-move from the public that which is in the public domain by virtue of its inclusion in, or obviousness from, the prior art." 596 F.2d at 1022, 201 USPQ at 661.).

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
